El rechazo del aborto ha sido un elemento básico de la identidad católica desde los primeros días de la Iglesia. La Didaché, un manual de moral Católica escrito antes que los últimos libros del Nuevo Testamento, condena el aborto como infanticidio. Atenágoras, un catequista, escribió al Emperador romano en el año 177 d.C. que la Iglesia considera el aborto un "asesinato" porque "el feto en el vientre es un ser creado y por tanto, un objeto del amor de Dios". Esto nos dice que la oposición a la abominación del aborto es más que una posición política partidista. Para el católico, esta creencia llega hasta el núcleo del misterio que Cristo vino a revelarnos cuando entró en este mundo. Este misterio está reflejado en el documento fundacional de nuestro país, que nos habla de que nuestro Creador nos dio derechos que nadie puede quitarnos o pretender que no tenemos, siendo el primero de éstos el derecho a la vida.

~Reverendísimo José H. Gómez, Arzobispo Coadjutor de Los Angeles, Today's Catholic [San Antonio], 10 de oct. de 2008

The rejection of abortion has been a basic element of Catholic identity since the church's earliest days. The Didache, a manual of church morals written even earlier than the later writings of the New Testament, condemns abortion as infanticide. Athenagoras, a catechist, wrote to the Roman emperor in 177 A.D. that the church considers abortion "murder" because "the fetus in the womb is a created being and therefore an object of God's care." This tells us that opposition to the abomination of abortion is more than a partisan political position. For the Catholic, this belief goes to the heart of the mystery that Christ came into this world to reveal to us. This mystery is reflected in our country's founding document, which speaks of our being endowed by our Creator with rights that no one can take away from us or pretend that we don't have — the first of these being the right to life.

FEAST OF FAITH
Gathering

When Pope Benedict XVI visited the United States in 2008, tens of thousands gathered in Yankee Stadium to celebrate the Eucharist with him. What made them different from all the other excited crowds who have assembled there through the years? When they began to sing together, to listen together, to pray together, they ceased to be a crowd, and became a liturgical assembly. It was not where they were but what they did that set them apart.

The Gospels speak of many instances when Jesus prayed alone to his Father. But Jesus also put a special value on communal prayer. "Where two or three are gathered together in my name," he told his disciples, "there am I in the midst of them" (Matthew 18:20). Jesus gave his own mission to his followers, sending them forth to do everything he did: to heal, to teach, to proclaim the kingdom. Jesus wants us to meet God in and through each other. So the Christian community continues to gather, Sunday after Sunday. When we get up on Sunday morning and come to Mass, we respond to Jesus' invitation, and we express our trust in his promise that whenever we come together, he comes, too.

FIESTA DE LA FE
Pedimos perdón

Como el amor de Dios es algo tan obvio, es posible que nos resulte un poco difícil explicarlo. Resulta aun más difícil explicarlo cuando en nuestra vida no nos hemos sentido amados por Dios, así como somos, en nuestra humanidad más plena. Si el amor es lo único que basta, si sólo Dios basta, como escribió santa Teresa, ¿cómo es que ese amor no nos llega? Pues sí nos llega, a todos y todas, lo que muchas veces sucede es que no siempre estamos abiertos a ese amor, en cierta forma, nos negamos a él, o bien, no respondemos a ese amor tan grande que recibimos de Dios. Por eso pedimos perdón durante la celebración de la Misa, porque no hemos amado a Dios como él nos amó; porque no hemos seguido su mandato de amar al prójimo como a nosotros mismos; porque no hemos caminado humildemente ante su presencia y tampoco hemos vivido la justicia. Porque no hemos dejado todo para seguirlo. Le pedimos perdón mediante el Acto Penitencial, el Señor ten piedad o durante la Pascua, con la aspersión del agua bendita. Experimentamos así la gran misericordia de Dios, cuyo amor por nosotros es ilimitado.
